Nevada County Board of Supervisors

Nevada City, CA 95959

Honorable Supervisors,

As you are aware, the California Building Standards Commission adopts a new and updated version of the California Fire Code every three years. It is then the responsibility of local governments to adopt the code and make any modifications or amendments to it that address local concerns. In the current cycle the Chief Building Official of Nevada County, Mr. Craig Griesbach, has been working with the county fire districts to craft a package of amendments to the state code that address these concerns and provide uniformity throughout the county. This provides consistency for all related industries and makes the plan approval and building process more efficient for all concerned.

It is my opinion that the proposed California Fire Code adoption before you on the next Board of Supervisor's agenda is inclusive of this agency's concerns and needs relative to fire and life safety in our community. I support this adoption and encourage you to as well.

Please feel free to contact me should you wish to discuss this further.

Respectfully,

Honorable Supervisors,

The Chief Building Official of Nevada County, Mr. Craig Griesbach, has been working with local fire inspectors and the fire districts of Nevada County to form amendments to the upcoming California Fire Code adoption that address local concerns and provide uniformity throughout the county.

Having a uniform set of fire-related building codes that all fire districts agree on will provide consistency for all related industries in Nevada County and will make the plan approval and building process more efficient.

The proposed California Fire Code adoption before you on the next Board of Supervisor's agenda meets the needs and concerns of the Rough and Ready Fire Protection District and we encourage its adoption.

Sincerely,

Bob Vaughn
