May 23, 2021

Honorable Chairman and Board members:

At the May 21, 2021 meeting of the Nevada County Historical Landmarks Commission, a motion was passed to approve the application for registration of the North San Juan Protestant Cemetery, in North San Juan, Ca., as a Nevada County Historical Landmark.

Under the care of the Nevada County Cemetery District, this unusually large and beautiful cemetery has served as a place of internment since 1851. It holds the remains of hundreds of individuals with many life stories related to the Gold Rush. Since the cemetery lies next to Highway 49, its easy access makes it a choice for visitation by Nevada County residents and visitors, alike. Its unusual size, with numerous headstones in place, makes it particularly interesting.

The cemetery site will be added to the interactive map on line. The map locates each historic site and provides photos and information.

Attached are the required historic and legal documents necessary for marking. We further request, as part of the approval process, that the Board of Supervisors forward it to the Assessor's office for recording.

If you have any questions, do not hesitate to call me at 530-273-0502. Thank you in advance for your consideration of this request.

Respectfully submitted,

For number 21-04

Brief history and description of proposed landmark

(attach additional sheets as necessary)

Founded in 1851 as a Protestant cemetery, this is the largest property within the District with the most burials.

See attached.

Historically significant aspects or properties of proposed landmark

The cemetery is an almost complete representation of Christian grave symbolism at the time.

See attached.

How will the landmark be protected and maintained?

The cemetery is fenced and gated. The drive through gates are locked when we are not there. The walk-through gates are open to foot traffic every day. We usually are at the cemetery at least one day a week unless we have a service or are doing a maintenance project. Local neighbors are quick to report anything unusual as well.

NORTH SAN JUAN PROTESTANT CEMETERY

HISTORY: Founded in 1851 as a Protestant cemetery. Largest property within the District with the most burials. Was adjacent to the route of the world's first long distant pole line.

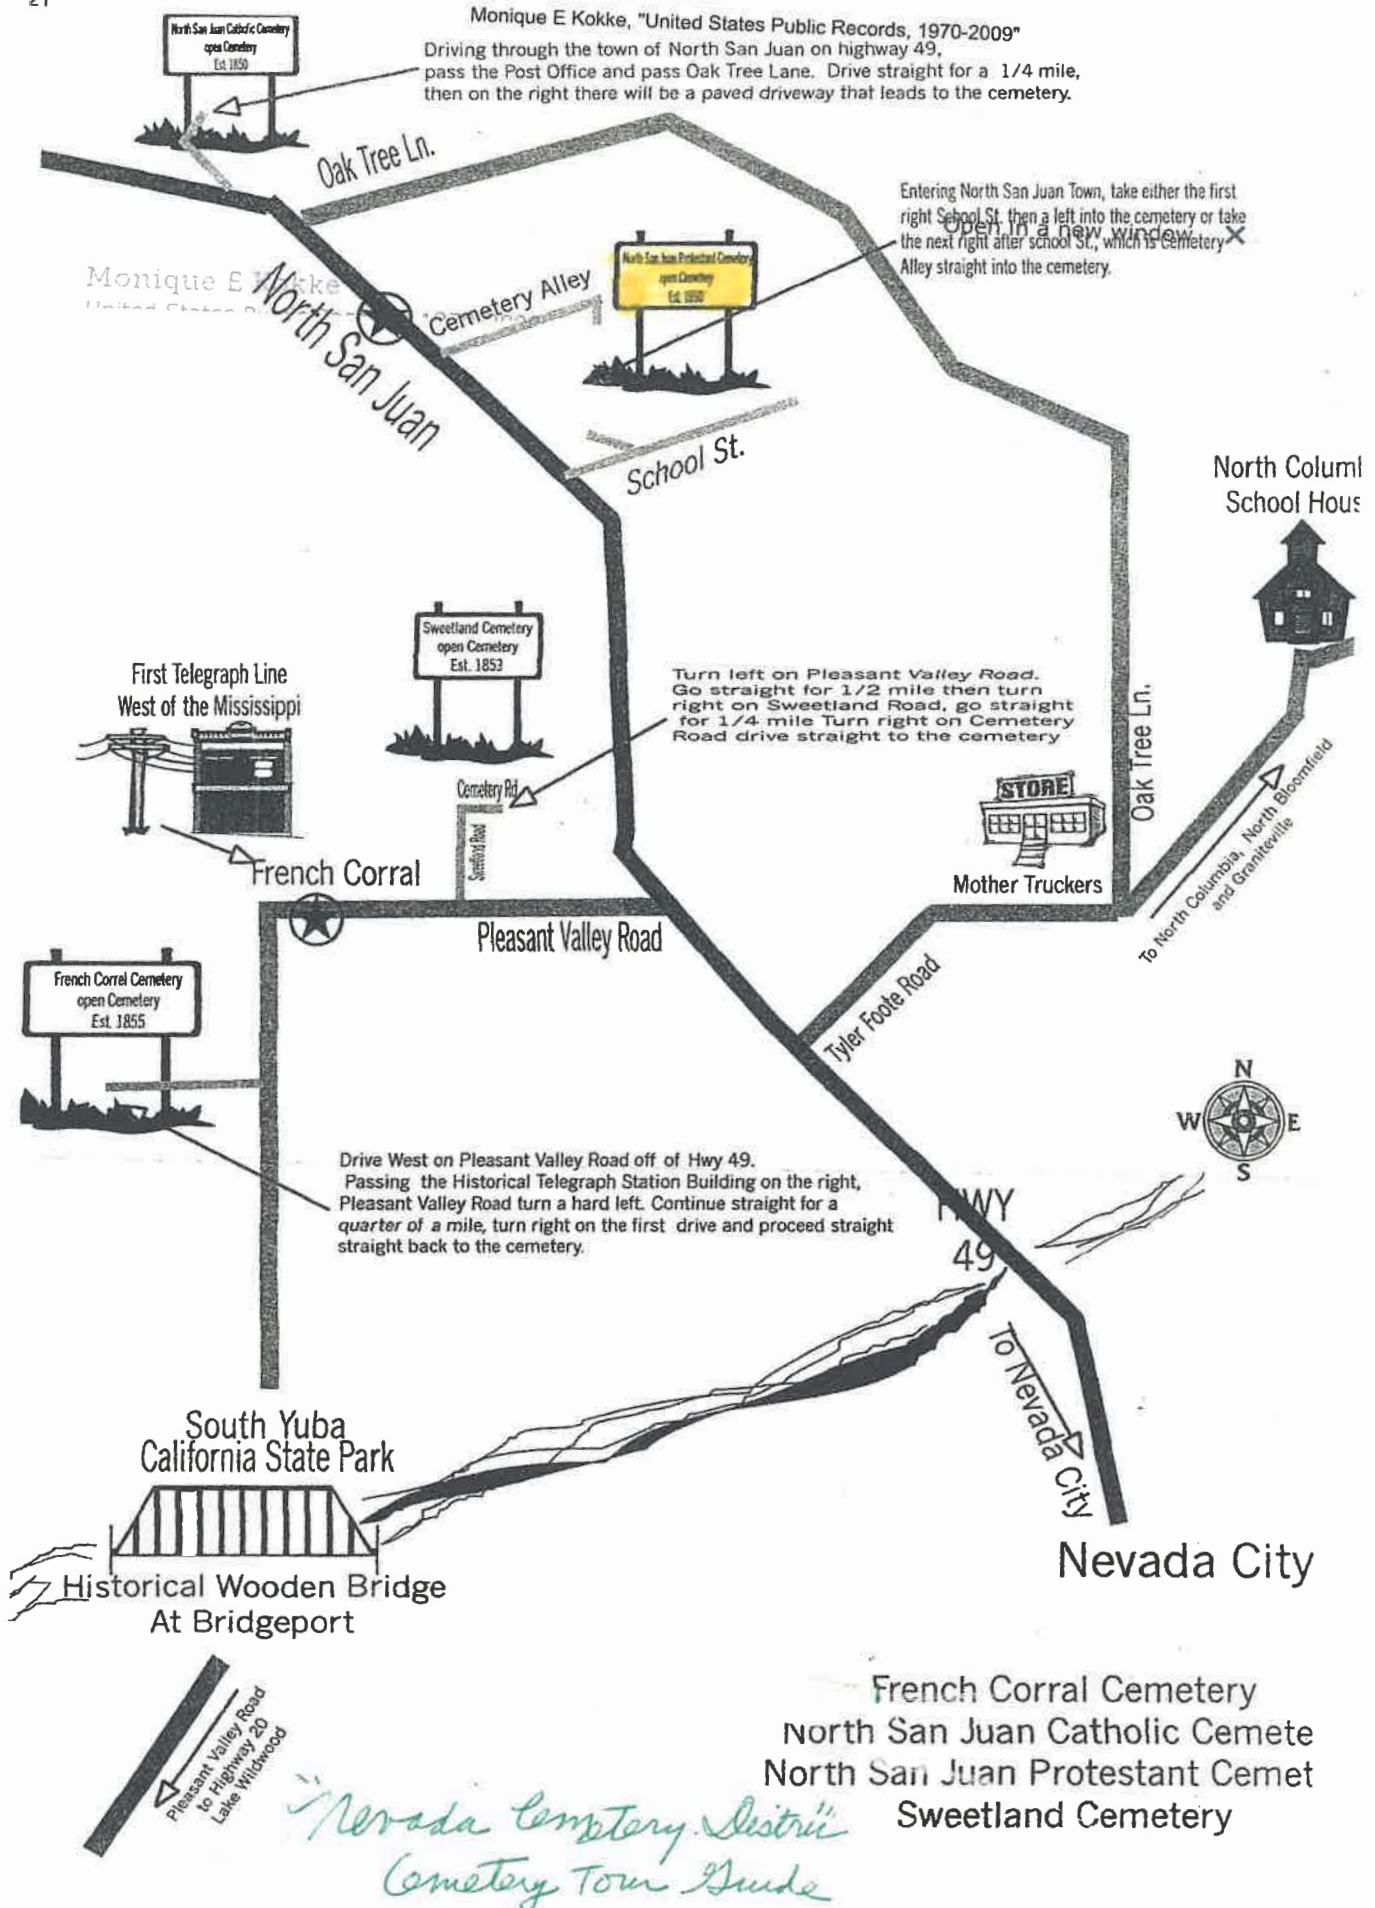

Sen Get (aka Ah Get, aka "Smiley") was 14 when gold was discovered in California. He likely came to the area as part of an early Chinese trading company. For nearly 40 years he worked in the hotels of North San Juan and Cherokee. He resided in NSJ's Chinatown and was the last local knowledgeable in Chinese funerary customs, as burial practice he voluntarily provided for his countrymen. He sent many of them back to their native land after they had passed. In 1933 he died at the age of 98. Due to the Chinese Exclusion act of 1882, the Chinese were not allowed to be buried in Christian cemeteries, but given his status and generosity with the townspeople, he was given burial in the cemetery. The only known Chinese National in the cemetery to this day.

The most talked about grave site is a stone that reads "William Bonney age 19". Although it is not the same William Bonney known to many in the West as Billy the Kid, we are asked about it often.

OF NOTE: In 2016 an Eagle Scout chose this cemetery as a project to complete his rank. Jonathan Beck surveyed and mapped the entire cemetery. Before that point, NCD had no known map of the plots. We only had an inventory of what we were able to write down from the headstones. This map has been added to our files and helps greatly in our efforts to assist the public looking for specific graves.

Driving through the town of North San Juan on highway 49, pass the Post Office and pass Oak Tree Lane. Drive straight for a 1/4 mile, then on the right there will be a paved driveway that leads to the cemetery.

A CLOSER LOOK

Gone but Not Forgotten

The 1852 census showed 3,396 Chinese living in Nevada County. By 1880, they constituted 22% of California's mining population making them the largest single nationality engaged in mining.

Little is known of Sin Yet, also known as Ah Get but much better known as Smiley, a colorful, peaceful and congenial soul that had a smile for everyone. Smiley of North San Juan was 14 years old when gold was discovered in New Helvelia. He may have entered the United States and then California as part of early-mined Chinese Company. For nearly 40 years he worked for the National [Exchange] Hotel in [San Francisco] by Mrs. James Bradbury. He resided in North San Juan's Chinatown in a small cabin. Sin Yet was a generous and respectful man. His attention to the Chinese funeral custom was well known and he attended to the Chinese funeral-rights until he was indeed the last one knowledgeable of the process. Sin Yet, died October 17th, 1933 at the age of 98½ years. He was buried October 20th and was the only Chinese national to be buried there (at that time). A fading mural, featuring Smiley can still be seen on the northern wall of the old Wells Fargo & Company brick building in downtown North San Juan (built in 1854 and still in use).

The North San Juan Protestant Cemetery (NSJPC) is an integral component of the early ridge community. The oldest remaining grave monument [known] dates to 1853 (young Thomas Gill) and burials are thought to have occurred before that, as early as 1850. Historically, the NSJPC has served a large population. It is estimated that about 800 of the historic-era citizenry of North San Juan, Birchville, Cherokee, Sebastopol, Sweetland and North Columbia areas all used the cemetery and are represented therein. The grave monuments vary greatly; elaborate imported white marble columns, cast and wrought-iron works, regional granite tablets and obelisks and simple wooden or angle-iron crosses and alloy placards populate the cemetery grounds, amongst the towering Black Oaks, Cedars and Cypress.

FOUNDED IN 1864 TO PRESERVE THE UNION ... ONE AND INSEPARABLE

Unique route to Eagle Scout

Teen's effort to plot, record graves 'huge benefit' to cemetery district

By Ross Maak
City Editor

Jonathan Beck needed a project to complete his journey to become an Eagle Scout.

Many Eagle Scout projects involve some sort of building or construction project. Or maybe the restoration of something that had started to wither with age.

Beck actually started down that road as well, but after hitting a road block here and an coming across an idea there, he wrapped up a project that differed from many before.

In the end, Beck plotted and recorded every single grave in the North San Juan Protestant Cemetery.

It wasn't his original plan, and he had an abundance of help along the way, but a week ago today he officially handed his work over to Nevada Cemetery District Manager Matthew Melugin.

THE ORIGINAL PLAN

When he first set out, Beck had heard that Hooper and Weaver Mortuary had some gravestones that had, over time, sunk below the surface. He decided it would be a worthwhile project to bring those stones back up and restore them.

However, he'd heard the rumors months before actually starting in on the project. By the time he hit up the mortuary to help, they informed him the deal had already been done and the gravestones restored to their proper depth.

But, they said, Beck

"I cannot emphasize enough how I couldn't have done it without him ... It was such a great experience working with (John Spencer). He taught me and all the scouts about the equipment he used. It was invaluable."

Jonathan Beck

should go back to the cemetery district. Surely it would have something that needed attention.

A NEW DIRECTION

Beck then reached out to Melugin, and he was more than happy to oblige. Melugin explained to Beck that a few years ago many active cemeteries across the nation received funding to be plotted and mapped out. However, closed cemeteries

Beck arrived back with his dog, a 100-foot tape measure and an American Pit Bull Terrier that he'd brought to the cemetery to sniff for work.

"We quickly realized that what was going to work," Beck said, explaining how the bird was going to be considerably more comfortable and that he'd recovered. Beck said it was a contractor, who provided some useful information about where ourselves and sending him off to find some help.

The first two did not go home with me at all. Jack said, "The third, well, his wife brought the message and told him he had to be a fire."

As it turns out, former House Valley Mayor Paul Ingram Spencer was the wife and former Nevada County Supervisor John Spencer's of Spouse and Supervisor, reached into the back

THE ODD FELLOWS OF NORTH SAN JUAN.—
We have heretofore proclaimed the fact that the Odd Fellows of this place were making preparations to celebrate on Thursday the 26th, the forty seventh anniversary of the establishment of their benevolent Order in America, the celebration to consist of ceremonies dedicatory of their new hall and of their cemetery, an oration, dinner and ball. A few particulars in this connection will prove interesting.

San Juan Lodge No. 67, I. O. O. F., was organized January 22d, 1857, with but seven members, of whom only two remain connected with the Lodge. The total number enrolled on the list of members since that time is sixty-nine, the present membership being fifty six. The dues for each member amount to sixteen dollars per annum. The total income of the Lodge, from degree fees and dues, to date, has been $4,000, of which sum $1,112 was expended for benefits to the sick and burial of the dead, besides a large amount obtained by voluntary contribution from members. Three deaths have occurred in the history of the Lodge. The amount expended for the education of children of deceased members is $132 25—making the entire appropriation for charitable purposes $1,244 25.

In July last the necessity of adopting some means to rid the Lodge of the heavy burden of rent, and to get a more convenient room for Lodge purposes, caused the appointment of a committee to which was assigned the duty of enquiring into the expediency and practicability of erecting a Hall. In accordance with the report of this committee, a joint stock association was formed for the purpose of building a two-story, fire-proof brick hall, on Main street. The work was immediately undertaken, and has been some time completed. The new Hall is twenty-five feet wide, running back towards Cherokee street fifty-six feet, and the upper story is finished and furnished with a considerable degree of elegance, and is occupied by the Odd Fellows, Masons and Sons of Temperance, the lower story being rented as a store. The cost of the building and furniture was $5,288, and it rents for a fair interest on this amount. We should not omit to mention here, that the building was erected on contract by Mr. D. Swain, who has put up several other fire-proof houses in town and has the contract for Mr. Green's new edifice, on the corner of Main and Flume streets.

Under the auspices of the Lodge a large lot has been enclosed in the public grave yard, as a private cemetery, planted with bushes and trees and sown with grass seed. It is already consecrated as the last resting place of two brothers—Johnston and Spencer, above the remains of the former of whom rises a marble memorial.

Having accomplished so much for the good of their fellows, the members of San Juan Lodge are entitled to much credit, and to all the enjoyment they anticipate from their coming celebration. There will be a big-gathering of the fraternity on that occasion, and there will also be ample accommodation and hospitable treatment for all who come.

Dan Morrison is busy with a four-horse team hauling curbing and copings from the quarry on the Bowen ranch in Pleasant Valley to North San Juan. The stone is intended for the beautifying of the burial lot in the North San Juan cemetery owned by Dan Cochran of Cherokee. It is a regular grained blue granite which also makes handsome monuments.

Great Respect Shown at Pioneer's Funeral

The funeral of the late Mrs. Regina Weinman of Sebastopol on Monday afternoon was the occasion for mourning along the North San Juan Ridge, where she had spent sixty years of her life. The public schools at North San Juan and Sweetland were closed for the funeral and flags were flown at half mast out of respect for the beloved woman. Large numbers of sorrowing friends from up and down the Ridge followed the remains to their last resting place in the North San Juan cemetery. The following were pall bearers: J. J. McCullough, Charles Maddrill, Henry Huckins, Walter Waiker, John Rogers and Ernest Collins.

Local Masons Are Assisting Cleanup At North San Juan

Lloyd W. Jennings, Joseph F. Stenger, Charles Hosking and William Davey went to San Juan Sunday and did some work in cleaning out the Masonic cemetery at that place. The townspeople of San Juan have done considerable work on the cemetery, and Nevada Lodge of Masons is going to assist by putting the Masonic cemetery in shape.

On Sunday the local members who went over put in a good portion of the day in grubbing out the mass of scotch broom which has overrun the cemetery lot. Another trip will be made when this work will be completed and the lodge will also have the fence around the cemetery put in order again.

The San Juan people have made good progress in their cleanup work, and the town presents a very attractive appearance. San Juan is one of the prettiest towns on the ridge and the residents are justly proud of it.

"Sunny Boy" Is Laid to Rest in Cemetery at North San Juan

San and impressive were funeral rites yesterday in the Methodist Church at North San Juan for little George Bretton McQuinn, three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George McQuinn of that place. The bereaved father and mother and five little brothers and sisters gathered about the small white casket containing the body of the little boy, who because of his happy disposition was known to everyone as "Sonny Boy."

His death was due to pneumonia caused it is believed, by the fact that the little youngster had not sufficient warm clothes to ward off the cold that preceded the fatal malady. The father is a SERA worker.

Rev. H. H. Buckner of the Methodist Church officiated and his sermon and reading from the "Book of Law" brought comfort not only to the sorrowing family but to the friends who mourned with them.

A choir consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris, Mrs. S. H. Jones and J. Hare with Miss Evelyn Jones as accompanist sang.

Four small boys carried the little casket to the grave in the North San Juan cemetery. They were: Leland Shaffer, Jack Kessler, Max Young and Warren Aldridge.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of the Holmes Funeral Home
